

Dear Members,

Please find below information concerning an upcoming IRF publication which aims to publicise your research and best practices on environmental issues. A detailed guideline for this publication is available in the Members area of the IRF website. To access the area please contact Andy Bastienne at abastienne@irfnet.org to retrieve your personal password.

Do not hesitate to check the section for latest IRF updates on upcoming General Assemblies, Executive Committee and Board Meetings, to view and download the latest IRF World Road Statistics and Who's Who.

INNOVATION FOR SUSTAINABLE ROADS

Showcasing Road Industry's commitment to environment

Invitation to present your Best Industry Practices on Environment

Dear IRF Member,

Environmental issues have been on top of the world agenda for a quite a while. The road sector is particularly frowned upon. However, only a restricted number of people are fully aware of the time, research and resources invested by you, our members, in developing eco-friendly processes and materials.

The IRF Working Group Environment felt that it was time to largely publicise our members' research and best practices.

We are therefore preparing a publication show-casing your innovations, research, applications which are advancing the cause of the environment.

For this first volume, we would like to invite you to send us your show-case (example of projects, products, techniques, research) in the field of

- eco-materials and recycling
- water management and pollution prevention
- noise abatement and mitigation

Examples taking into consideration resources conservation, reduction of emissions and energy consumption, pollution prevention are particularly welcome. We look specifically for practices that are innovative, cost efficient and with a proven record. In short, they should work and be financially viable.

We would like to invite you to send us YOUR best practices:

Length of submission: 500-700 words + pictures/diagrams
Picture of the author and his/her contact details

Deadline for submission: Thursday 17 April 2008

Date of Publication: Summer 2008

The publication will be made available on our website and publicized through our Newsletter and mailing-lists. Around 3.000 copies will be printed and distributed at IRF events.

We look forward to receiving your submission and pictures and thank you in advance for your collaboration.

Best regards,

Susanna Zammataro
